Audience

Newly appointed EYFS Leaders and more experienced leaders seeking to address the latest national priorities and implement change

Join this in-depth CPD package and discover everything you need to become a successful leader of the EYFS. Focused on the multi-faceted nature of this critical role, this specialist programme will enable you to enrich your knowledge and understanding of best practice and develop the skills to lead with confidence.

By drawing on the latest research evidence relating to child development, curriculum and pedagogy – and addressing current national priorities - this programme will help you to identify areas for development and gain support for leading a programme of change in your school.

Using a blended approach to training with face to face seminars and online modules, the programme takes you on a journey of support, structured around three core modules. It incorporates research evidence, audit tools and further reading along with a programme of change management based on a piece of action research relating to current school or setting priorities.

The programme takes place over a six month period, enabling participants to deeply embed their learning and critically evaluate the impact of changes they make. On completion of the programme, there is an option to undertake an additional assignment with Oxford Brookes University, gaining credits towards a Masters.

Developing Confident & Skilful Leadership of the EYFS

Early Excellence & Oxford Brookes University Accredited CPD with credits towards a Masters

Day One

Establishing Shared Vision & Values

A clear vision of excellence is established on day one with in-depth thinking about values and aspirations for young children set alongside national policy and expectations.

Day Two & Three

Leading Effective Teaching & Learning

Ensuring that leadership is based on a secure understanding of best practice is the focus of day two and three with interactive sessions to identify and prioritise areas for development and understand the process of change and its management.

Online Webinars

Addressing Current Priorities

A choice of three online webinars designed to support the key themes emerging from the group and the focus of school-based action research projects.

Action Research

Leading Change in School

Focused on their current school priority, participants gain support to undertake a piece of action-research based on effective change management.

Day Four

Leading & Developing Others

The final day explores leading teams and brings together the groups' work, culminating in presentations of the change management projects and action research undertaken in schools.

Optional Assignment

Oxford Brookes University

EYFS Leaders successfully completing the EEx Accredited Programme are able to undertake an additional assignment submitted for assessment to Oxford Brookes University. There is an additional cost for this assignment.

"Really inspiring - in a realistic way. Lots of ideas to take back to my school. So much help to make quick changes that will build-up to have a big impact."

Maxine Lonergan
EYFS Co-ordinator
Greenside Primary School

"I've got so much I want to do and implement as a result of this programme of support. I feel I am becoming more confident in my abilities and in pushing the importance of the Early Years through school."

Rebecca Adey
EYFS Co-ordinator
Botley Primary School
Oxford

"This programme gave me a much-needed opportunity to update what I know about quality and impact in Early Years and the time to reflect on how I can better implement what I know in my new school."

The sessions left me feeling re-invigorated. It was so good to have the space to think with an expert trainer and to discuss plans with other like-minded colleagues."
